for listening ... respecting ...
understanding ...

a time to begin . . .

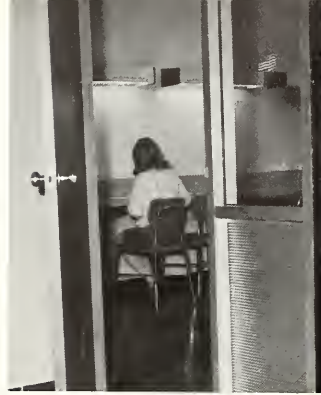

the alarm rings ... just five more minutes ... fifteen minutes later, "get up. it's late." the rush begins ... get dressed, eat something and go. the parking lot comes into view at 7:44 and then the rush to the door ... off with the coat and to first hour ... now it's up to the teacher ... will it be a lecture, an assignment, a discussion, or pandemonium? first, announcements then the mood of the day becomes evident. is it participation, senior-itis, or unawareness of surrounding activity? whatever, soon it's over for the bell rings.

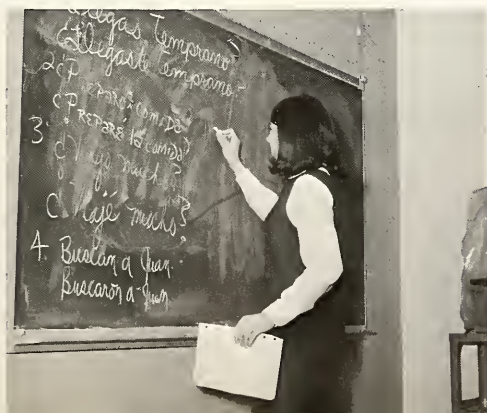

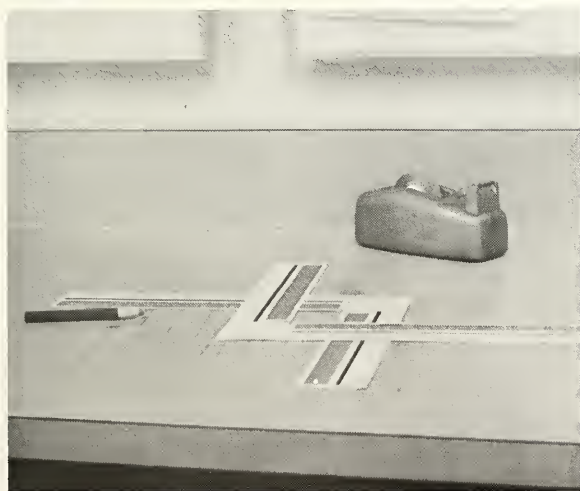

on to the next class — basically the same thing. at times it may seem longer than bearable ... is it just 20 after? ... boredom ... bell, finally. spirits rise. on to the best class ... interesting ... good teacher ... thought-provoking. six beeps ... too soon ... lunch!

thirty minutes filled with companionship, food, and the latest news. "how was the test?" "what's in the a la carte line?" . . . buy a ticket for the game and find a way to get there . . . "are you driving tonight?" bell . . . lunch goes too fast. a slow walk back to class and a wish to be with the kids going to lunch now.

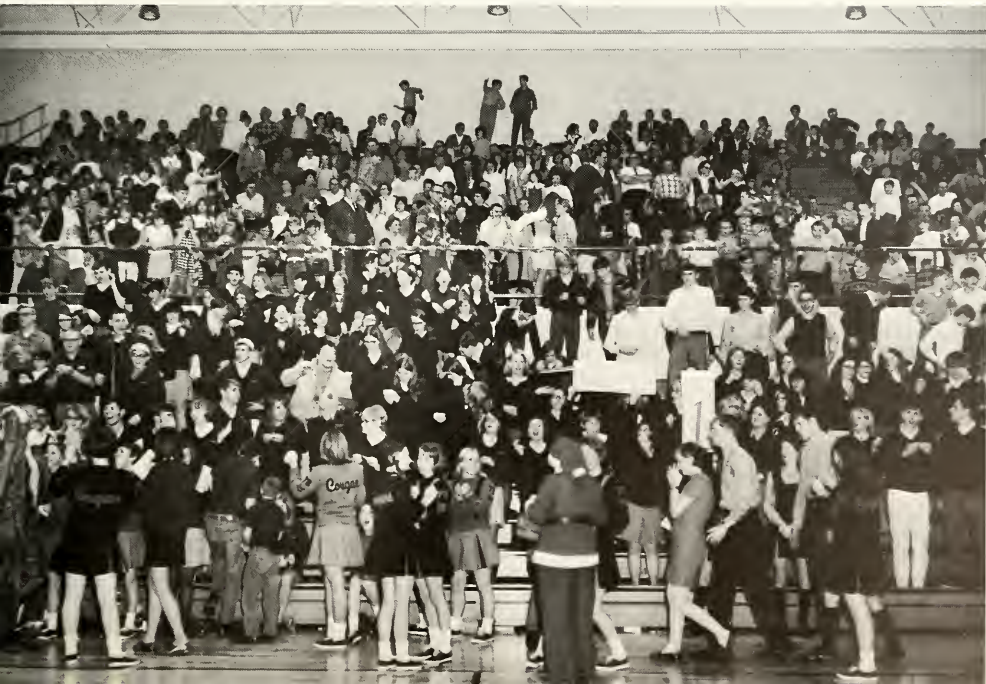

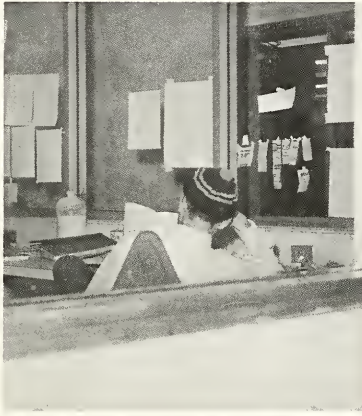

the routine begins again after the atmosphere of lunch has dissipated. lecture, notes, questions, answers ... beep beep beep ... study hall ... continually fluctuating between a loud whisper and an uproar. time to attempt some homework or catch up on lost sleep ... a difficult assignment ... occasionally a feeling of bewilderment and then, finally, the end of the ordeal ... all finished except for question 8.

the anxiety of the last hour of the last hour of the day is evident, even in the teacher. the weather — major cause of the restlessness . . . 10 more minutes until escape from the academic system of clocks, teachers, rules, and consciences . . . escape to practice, work, a friend's or study; only to reassemble the entire picture the next day.

an attempt has been made to provide a glimpse into life at new prairie through pictures, because all the fun, tears, and memories of this school could never be expressed in mere words.

a time to do . . .

the inviting challenge of producing a musical in the fall of the year was more than the students of the musical department could pass up. eagerly accepting the challenge, the cast undertook the extra work-load of early morning practices along with the many other fall activities. other departments combined to help make props and costumes. all in all, the musical was an undeniable success.

homecoming -1969

a week of preparation preceded the actual homecoming game. the cold, wet weather did little to dampen the spirit of the team or the fans. the cougars rolled to a 33-0 victory over john glenn to bring a happy ending to a hectic week. halftime of the game saw the crowning of our 1969 homecoming queen, diane codman.

homecoming — 1970

np's opponent for its basketball homecoming was bremen. the cougar spirit proved invaluable as the mighty cougars led throughout the entire game. half-time festivities included the crowning of sue cuff as basketball queen by jim noel and rich dodd — captains of the varsity squad, and a twirling performance by indiana's majorette champion, michelle shippee. the perfect evening was concluded by the victory of the cougars over the bremen lions, 70-63.

this year several seniors were awarded a trip to washington, d.c. in october, for selling subscriptions for the la porte herald-argus.

the group also visited williamsburg and james-town. a visit to the white house and smithsonian institute were on the agenda for this tour. one of the biggest points of interest was the washington monument where many of the students climbed to the top while others took an elevator.

the trip was highlighted by a visit to the lincoln monument at night when the lights of washington were reflected from a pool at the base of the monument.

this trip created a lasting memory for all concerned.

The background of the entire page is a complex black and white optical illusion. It consists of numerous concentric, wavy lines that create a strong three-dimensional effect, making the viewer feel like they are looking into a deep, swirling tunnel or a series of overlapping, undulating planes. The lines are of varying thickness and are arranged in a way that causes the brain to perceive depth and movement where there is none.

announcer: "new prairie high school proudly presents —" with this introduction, 44 well-disciplined high school students snap to attention, salute, and reply, "cougar cadettes."

this girls' drill team, with its precision perfect routines, has become a part of the tradition of our school. they perform at both football and basketball games and never cease to amaze spectators with their ability to conjure new routines for every occasion.

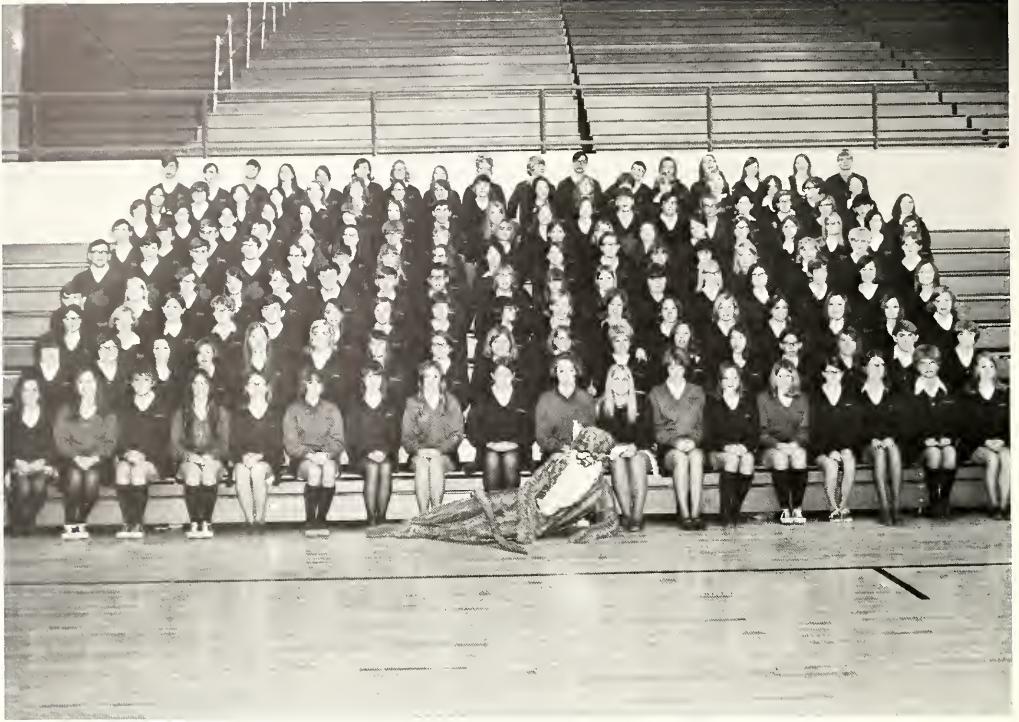

basketball fans of all ages especially enjoyed the dance sequence at the jimtown game. accompanied by our talented pep band, the girls presented "that wonderful year" which included the charleston, jitterbug, twist, and contemporary dance routines. appropriate costumes worn by the dancers contributed greatly to the production.

the cougar cadettes have acquired a reputation for being a contender for national honors in drill team competition by appearing in the wisconsin spectacle of music at milwaukee. this experience is one of the highlights of their year and keeps them busy year round.

this was a memorable year for cougar cadettes as it marked their switch in uniforms. girls in the corps were attired in bright gold uniforms, while the majorettes, chris gadacz and cindy fernald, wore navy blue.

miss volkman, sponsor; carol de poy, president; peggy wood, freshman representative; darla gesse, treasurer; dianne fischer, secretary; helen hanson, junior representative; diane sacks, sophomore representative; becky schroeder, senior representative.

this was the first year for an organized pep club at new prairie. under the leadership of miss volkman, the club became very important.

the first project was to purchase sweaters for a look of uniformity. the sweaters were quite a success and were worn to all home games.

along with the arranging of the block, hand motions were learned in unison. to add to the effect of the block as a whole, mike quinn became the mascot by dressing as a cougar and made his debut at the last home game before christmas. he became a regular at home games and pep sessions with his famous cougar cheer.

this year fta, the future teachers of america, continued many of its established practices. meetings consisted of speakers connected in some way with education. the club still employed the use of a point system, whereby the members collect points — by grading papers, lecturing before a group, and attending meetings, etc. — which earned them membership pins and bars. it hosted an area meeting, where varied schools in the area met to exchange ideas and elect new area officers, many of whom would run for state offices. two students from new prairie — martha bowell, miss fta, and pam jones, corresponding secretary-treasurer — won area offices. another new prairie student, debra bradfield, held the office of area vice-president in 1969. in the spring, fta members attended a state convention and also visited indiana state university in terre haute.

this year the yearbook staff had an extremely difficult task. it was decided to have a spring distribution of the books, which meant long hours of hard work to meet the final deadline of february 23. there were pictures to be taken, captions to write, and copywriting to be done. after the yearbook itself was completed, the staff was kept busy producing a summer supplement.

undoubtedly the greatest story was the cinderella half-mile relay team. the ace sprinters copped the rochester relays trophy in a tune-up for the conference meet. this meet brought together three talented relay teams: new prairie, la ville, and jimtown. steve rzepka led off with a bolt of speed as he fought his way between a pair of rival runners. wayne martensen took a perfect hand-off and increased the margin. bob breaux delighted n.p. fans with his effort and rich simpson brought home the baton in victory. these seniors clipped the conference relay mark by eight tenths of a second as they turned in a 1:36.5 time.

gordon smith, who was named the most improved runner, staged a tremendous kick in the final lap to win the conference mile. wayne martensen, who holds the conference mark in the 440, successfully defended his title in that event.

led by captain rich simpson, many seniors contributed to the success of the team. bob breaux won the most valuable trophy for scoring the most points and set records in the 100 and 220.

wayne martensen was a regular winner in the 440 and ran the mile relay. mike quinn could be counted on in the two-mile run. steve rzepka led off the 880 relay and steve warren doubled in the high and low hurdles.

field events will be hard-hit by graduation. jim noel and rich dodd, both vaulters, were four letter winners in track. paul dickie set the indoor long jump record.

these seniors helped fashion a track tradition at new prairie and they are confident their efforts will serve as an inspiration to underclassmen to strive for even better results.

unseasonal snow squalls greatly hampered the links activities of coach leon adnson's golfers. compounded with the weather restrictions was the fact that coach adnson faced a monumental rebuilding effort due to the loss by graduation of several veteran performers.

steve bealor was named the most valuable golfer by virtue of his 42.9 average score. scott joslin, tom stockton, roger teska, and ron bendicks earned their letters in golf this season. hopes are high for future years as none of these boys graduated this year.

the team finished a respectable third in northern state conference play and compiled a 5-6 record for the entire season. their scores were favorable throughout the season and this young team showed steady progress throughout the season.

chris wykoff was named captain of the diamondmen and he was also recipient of the bill strong sportsmanship trophy.

judd hill was an excellent target for the mound corps and he wasn't opposed to blocking the plate when called upon to wipe out potential enemy scorers.

ray nickerson used his huge size to great advantage as he handled first base chores with finesse. his very presence lent encouragement to his mates who were confident he could scoop up anything in sight of the initial sack.

wally kulasa, of the rifle arm, was named to all-conference honors for his ability to patrol center field and to get the ball back into the infield with great haste.

dave dodd was a good hard-nosed second baseman who wasn't afraid to charge the ball and would play the long hop rather than to wait for dribblers to come his way.

dan shead was rightfully named as an all-conference pitcher. he sported a .434 batting average in the conference to help his own cause — pitchers are usually notoriously inept hitters.

john glenn furnished the opposition in the first game ever to be played on our own diamond. the cougars emerged victorious with dan shead racking up a 6-4 win. shead also had the honor of scoring the first run over our new home plate.

new orleans' most gala affair — the mardi gras — was brought to n.p.h.s. this spring by the junior class. the prom broke with tradition in two aspects; first, it was held on a friday night rather than a saturday, and, secondly, the entertainment after the movie was provided by a professional magician. these differing features, combined with a day at the beach as an aftermath, effected a week-end not only memorable, but enchanting as well.

members of nhs must possess a 3.0 or better average and none can receive any grade lower than a c for a semester average. the teachers of new prairie, who were given a list of students applying for membership, selected thirty new members — nine seniors and twenty-one juniors. together with the seventeen "old" members, this gave the club a total of forty-seven students.

new prairie's ffa had many honors bestowed upon it this year. it received a superior rating from the national association of future farmers. the chapter was the only chapter in the nation to have two judging teams place in the top ten at the national judging contests.

the vegetable judging team placed tenth at the national junior horticultural association convention and contest at indianapolis. the team had previously won the state contest.

the livestock judging team, after many weeks of practice, climaxed the year by placing fifth in the eastern united states contest at richmond, virginia. the team earned the right to compete by winning county, district, and state contests.

this year the new prairie chapter doubled its membership from that of the previous year. all of the girls were kept busy with activities at school, home, and various other places. freshman and sophomore members visited a school for retarded and crippled children while juniors and seniors went to a school for juvenile delinquents.

most important, the chapter strove to receive the title of honor chapter. to do this, a chapter must perform certain services for the school, home and community.

joyce boutin, recreation leader; barb magers, reporter; aggie anderson, parliamentarian; linda meyers, historian; linda quirks, secretary; marsha ekstrom, vice-president; debbie robinson, president; robin eckert, treasurer, mrs. ekstrom, sponsor.

this year the latin club aimed to start new traditions and at the same time maintain its link with old ones. one example is the program presented for a children's hospital which was composed and acted out by latin club. another first was the visit paid by several members to rome. this trip lasted two weeks and was used for both educational and pleasurable purposes. old traditions, such as the giving of a christmas basket to an unfortunate family on christmas eve were preserved, and the latin banquet, as always, proved a great success.

band is an organization of those students who wish to broaden their interests by way of experience in music. in this school, the getting of this experience is made more appealing by dividing the fields of band music into several different sections, such as dance band, pep band, concert band, and marching band. in the fall, the marching band entertained the football crowds by their half-time programs. this gave the band not only a chance to practice newfound skills of precision, but also allowed them to display their new $100-apiece uniforms, well earned by efforts in candy and fruit cake sales. next came the organizing of the pep and dance bands, where this year's band director, mr. kenneth johns, displayed his talents in getting both sound and impact out of a small group. last but not least came concert band; a group that provided many fine concerts throughout the year.

the lettermen's club is composed of boys who have earned a letter in any sport in which they have participated.

the club sponsored a cake raffle in february as their money-making project in order to continue the tradition of the sweater emblems being a gift of the school.

it is the sole aim of the club that its members realize the honor accompanying their sweater and that they conduct themselves in a manner that will in turn bring honor to the school.

library assistants are always busy, doing many of the following tasks: entering new magazines on a special checklist and putting them in their proper places; writing overdue slips and notifying students; collecting fines; stapling together library pass stubs to be returned to the issuing teacher at the end of the day; replacing returned books on the shelves to give students easy access; making a circulation report at the end of each day; posting a circulation report on a weekly circulation card; keeping each section of the library in order; keeping magazines in the back room ready for easy reference; checking all books as they are returned and mending them if necessary; writing letters to sources dealing with audio-visual aids for the students; helping fellow students find information quickly and easily.

the cooperation of the librarians helps to maintain the high standards of our library and at the same time benefits the librarian by learning what information the library has to offer and where to find it.

the student council, the student government of our school, is made up of two representatives from each class. by representing the students while making decisions, it forms a link between the student body and the faculty. members listen to students' suggestions and comments about rules and, in turn, bring them up for discussion at the meetings. many meetings were held to set up a dress code and homecoming rules. after discussion, members decided to have every homeroom elect a non-voting member for more representation from each class and from the student body as a whole. this plan went into effect at the beginning of the second semester.

students in the audio-visual club assisted teachers by setting up film projectors, record players, tape recorders, and filmstrip and slide projectors. they were also of service in after-school activities such as ball games, dances, and club sponsored events.

new members join the club as apprentices the first year and become full members the following year, after learning how to operate all the equipment.

the clockstoppers, a club newly formed this year, is composed of those students who act as official timers and recorders at np swimming meets. each member was assigned a specific task for each meet, such as recording the race times of the swimmers, announcing the events, or timing the swimmers' times with stopwatches. mr. art rose, the swimming coach, formed the club in the fall after the first meet had been scheduled. with his guidance, the club is sure to be a lasting and permanent fixture of new prairie high school.

coach bill lynch and his mighty cougar gridders certainly gave new prairie much to cheer about as they sped to a winning season. undaunted by the loss of several stalwarts due to graduation, the boys quickly became a smooth functioning machine and put on some great displays, much to the delight of the fans.

it was unheralded robert hennen who furnished the heroics in the thrilling win over south central. the game was apparently going to end in a scoreless tie when hennen was called on with less than a minute to play. he was hit on the six yard line, broke a tackle, and squirted into the end zone for the only score of the game. this refusal to quit became a symbol of the 1969 cougars, and they amassed an impressive list of individual and team honors:

... wally kulasa's seeming to have intuitive instinct for playing pass defense, which resulted in many key interceptions ... bill coddens's bulling his way through enemy lines when valuable yards were needed ... ray nickerson's smothering errant backs who unwisely chose to invade his defensive domain ... wayne martensen's making a 98-yard sprint in the laville game ... ed cenkush's consistently defying punters to get one away by blocking more than his share ... mike engel's roaming all over the place on defense and leading in tackles ... terry cserpes's following his blocking and giving us numerous scores ... bruce nickerson's breaking the knox game open when he leaped high to intercept a pass just as the redskins were threatening an upset ... george deutscher's being one of those "unsung heroes" except in the eyes of the coaching staff ... chuck haverstock's pouncing on a fumble against concord to preserve a string of shutouts and maintain the pride engineered by the defensive unit.

yes, it was a good season. it was good because these were team victories and individual efforts but also vital parts in an intricate grid machine. this is the way coach lynch wanted it and that is the way he got it from the dedicated cougars of 1969.

the junior varsity football team finished the 1969-70 season with a sparkling 5-1 record. they played fine ball all season as exemplified by their 34-6 romp over north liberty.

the junior varsity was under the capable direction of coach jack kenyon. the co-captains, jay gilpin and john antonucci, supplied the team with leadership and inspiration.

in basketball, this was definitely the "year of the cougar". we won undisputed claim to the northern state conference title by running roghshod over all our league foes and finishing as the lone team to be undefeated.

john glenn was the first step along our path to circuit honors. they succumbed to our sharpshooters by a decisive 79-50 margin. dan troxell, a junior, had a good night for our cagers ... jim noel took individual scoring honors on numerous occasions, but he put on his best performance in the river valley game. todd noble got 41 for the valley five and jim bested him with 46 — five being the margin of victory ... bruce nickerson helped smash the laville jinx as he pulled in 28 rebounds to set a school record in that department and help us to a 68-57 win against the lancers ... dan shead had "his" night at knox. everything he did seemed to be right as he picked up 24 points to lead us to a stunning 82-81 victory over the redskins ... bill coddens saved his sports spectacular for the jimtown game. with the score knotted at 36-36 and two seconds remaining in the half, he let fire with a 60 foot bomb that landed on target long after the final buzzer.

chris wykoff is one of those handy men who will be missed by coach leon adnson next year. this senior scrapper has a fast pair of defensive hands that can break up a ball team that gets lax.

rich dodd's rebounding ability won respect from opposing players who held a height advantage only to have the talented jumper outleap them for the ball. dennis higgins and dan vermillion were always available for duty and helped whenever they were needed. popular lew plumbback inspired his fans to set up that familiar chant which more or less became a battle cry in this successful year, the year of the cougar.

this was a very fine year for the b-team. they opened with a defeat at triton, but came back with a six-game winning streak. one of the most thrilling of their contests was the victory over south bend clay by a few points.

the boys put on a fine showing in the last game of

under the leadership of coach olsen and captain larry shead, the squad finished their season with a sparkling 15-5 record.

our cougar wrestlers compiled a respectable season record this past year and also earned some individual honors which will go into the books as outstanding performances.

brett south upset some highly touted competitors in the 165-pound weight class to gain a gold medal in northern state conference. judd hill racked up a total of 36 points in dual meet competition to lead his mates in that area. vince neal earned 35 for a close second. neal also boats a 45 win 7 loss career mark in four years of varsity work. this trio will be sorely missed by coach don kane when he issues the call to duty next season.

added to this are the losses of ed cenkush, dave dodd, and george deutscher, also seniors, who were reliable point getters all year.

the eternal optimist, coach kane is confident he will field a powerful team in the future. he is pinning many of his hopes on mike engel, a talented sophomore, who lost a heartbreaking 1-0 decision in the second round of the sectional to the topseeded man in his weight class.

captain gordon smith and his runners had some pleasant experiences on the cross country courses last season. the team was dominated by underclassmen with bruce harber, a sophomore earning the most valuable award.

perhaps the most thrilling event of the season was the impressive win of new prairie over south bend clay, central, and st. joseph in a meet run over our own course. from a personal standpoint, this victory meant much to the boys as it was run over a course they helped to lay out themselves and was designed to offer a challenge to all competitors.

new prairie also hosted the largest cross country meet in northern indiana with 26 teams participating. this will be an annual event and should do much to stimulate interest in this fall sport.

gordon smith, jim banaszak, bob deer, bruce harber, louis zelasko, bob deutscher, and dan troxell earned letters for the 1969 season. smith and harber also received plaques from coach blaine gamble for running in excess of 250 miles on their own during the summer months.

top: john sinka, brent miller, bruce goodson, bruce dickie, ron bendix, jeff beyer, mark bromley, scott joslin, bob cenkush, kim sauers, bob keck, jerry batcher, coach art rose. middle: mark costello, dave burkus, mike houser, terry garoutte, bob hawkins, alan cowham, randy rudecki. sitting: bruce stoner, neil loucks, ken schell, larry norris.

if enthusiasm and intense interest are any measures of predicted success, the future of swimming as a varsity sport at new prairie is very bright. in their initial season the swimmers, under coach arthur rose, showed steady progress and compiled some respectable school records before the end of the year.

although the team was dominated by underclassmen who gained valuable experience this year, and will be available for service in the future, several seniors contributed their talents to the team. jerry batcher won his share of blue ribbons as did judd hill and randy lucas.

indiana has long been a power in competitive swimming and has furnished many gold medalists in olympics. with our new pool and the genuine desire of our swimmers, it is entirely possible that some future star will have obtained his background at new prairie.

for the first time, all of new prairie's cheerleaders attended a cheerleading camp at vincennes university during the summer. funds for this outing were provided by sponsoring a car wash and raffle.

september brought the first opportunity the girls had to show what they had learned at vincennes. together with new uniforms and a new "spirit" it became evident that the girls thoroughly enjoyed their jobs and did their best to promote all the aspects of good sportsmanship.

all of the girls felt it a great honor and a pleasure to back the cougar teams through their successful seasons.

this year's freshman class is distinguished by having been the first class to have attended the new prairie junior high before entering the high school.

despite the problems of uncertainty the first few days, they have adjusted well to new prairie traditions.

many members of the frosh class have become actively involved in school activities. in this way, they are establishing a firm foundation on which to base their next three years of high school life.

as the youngest members of our high school, they are eagerly anticipating their sophomore year.

sophomore class officers — margo bryant, vice president; jane briskey, co-treasurer; john antonucci, president; pam oberholtzer, co-treasurer; marcy kern, secretary.

renewing old friendships and making new ones we started the year. with this as a start, the sophomore class grew in unity and spirit, pulled together by class projects and activities such as homecoming and magazine sales. working hard to make the prom we will sponsor a memorable one, our sales goal was surpassed by a large margin, making the sale a success.

as the year closes we look back over our accomplishments, personal, academic, and athletic, and eagerly await our junior year which will bring our class rings, a prom, more challenges with admirable awards and more memories.

our class officers who helped to make the year a success by organizing work committees for the float and working with magazine money are president, john antonucci; vice-president, margo bryant; co-treasurers, jane briskey and pam oberholtzer; and secretary marcy kern. representatives for student council are mike engel and carol mcguire.

the class of '71 anxiously awaits its chance to become seniors. soon they will be entering their last, confusing, sad, happy, enlightening, and meaningful year at new prairie.

their accomplishments were numerous; the most notable being the memorable prom they gave the class of '70. others included the winning of the football season homecoming float, and the triumph of being the first class to win the spirit stick of 1969.

as were all former junior classes, they were proud of their rings, and rightfully so. wearing them, the juniors feel that they gained a life-long link with new prairie high school.

as the end of this school year approached, the juniors became more and more aware of the fact that important decisions concerning their futures must be made. this, coupled with the everpresent spirit of competition and the taking of many important tests for the college-bound students, made the junior year one of the most progressive and confusing years in a student's life.

exchange students

this year new prairie was fortunate enough to have two exchange students. both girls were from south america, ila being from brazil and pat from peru. while in the united states, the girls made their home with mr. and mrs. kenneth kaufman and family.

debbie parry, secretary; dan shead, vice-president; ray nickerson, president; judy thompson, treasurer.

1970 will be a harbinger of different thoughts and new ideas for the upcoming decade. it also brings the graduation of this group, the senior class of new prairie high school.

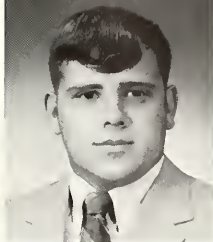

past accomplishments are numerous. we had more than our share of scholars, leaders, and athletes. their feats in leadership, scholarship, service, and competition made the entire school proud, but most of all, the seniors felt a tremendous pride in the accomplishments of our friends and classmates.

as we end a phase of our lives, we feel that we have had the time of our lives.

the middle of our junior year brought the confusion of actual consolidation. we combined well. we put on a prom and had a great time; we claimed two national merit finalists; our senior dominated football team had a winning season; our basketball team claimed the title of northern state conference champions; conference champs in every sport were members of our ranks.

we made many deep friendships, which time will test, and shared laughs, tears, joy, sorrow, fun, and trouble. as we leave nphs, we can wish for those who follow no more than to enjoy it as much as we did.
